SPOTLIGHT ON: Keynote Speaker

We are pleased to announce Jonas Häggström as a keynote speaker. Jonas is vice president of Global Health at Cytel and the Chair of the International COVID-19 Data Alliance Statistical Expert Group. He will present on the “International COVID-19 Data Alliance (ICODA) - A globally coordinated, health data-led research response to tackle the COVID-19 pandemic.” ICODA is an open and inclusive global coordinated, health data-led research initiative bringing together for- and non-profit companies and organisations working collaboratively to enable and empower researchers to access RCT and RWD health data in a responsible way, making use of innovative data science, contemporary tools and technology to accelerate knowledge of the prevention and treatment of COVID-19.

The presentation will focus on the ICODA journey from its inauguration in July 2020 to the current state with 12 driver projects, including more than 130 researchers, working on data from over 40 different countries. Jonas will illustrate how to successfully bring different companies and non-profit organisations together to collaborate towards a common goal, and specifically how statisticians played an essential role to make it happen. In addition, results from one of the ICODA projects evaluating the efficacy and safety of COVID-19 of existing medical interventions to support drug repurposing efforts will be shared.
